
Navajo County Board of Supervisors Select Steven Williams to Fill Vacant Seat
Supervisor Williams Honored to Serve Residents of District IV

HOLBROOK, AZ – (February 10, 2015) – In a unanimous action, the Navajo County Board of Supervisors chose Steven Williams to replace Supervisor David Tenney as the Navajo County Supervisor for District IV.

Steve grew up primarily in northern California where he twice earned all-state wrestling honors. His senior year in high school he broke the national high school record for takedowns in a single season. He later wrestled for both the U.S. Naval Academy Preparatory School, where he was team captain and MVP, as well as for Arizona State University where he was a Maroon & Gold Scholar Athlete. Steve received an honorable discharge from the U.S. Naval Reserves after serving active duty.

Williams and his wife, Ann chose to move their family to Navajo County because they wanted to raise their family in communities that are diverse in culture, had four seasons, a sense of pride and strong in family values. Williams stated that Navajo County had everything they were looking. He and his wife are pleased with the life they have built and are looking forward to this new role.

Steve Williams thanked his wife Ann of 15 years, sons Bo and Josh and daughters Gracie and Olivia. He recognized his parents and thanked them for their example and support. Williams expressed his gratitude for family and friends present. He thanked his fellow Supervisors for their support and trust, and expressed that he looked forward to serving with them in the future.

Vacating Supervisor David Tenney thanked Supervisor Williams for taking over District IV. He assured those present that Navajo County is in good hands with Steve Williams. "Steve is a competent and successful attorney in this area. He is involved and well-respected in our communities, and I know he will be a wonderful asset to the County."
